Wrecking Of Old P. C. Gymnasium To Begin This Week

Fun Night Given by Students, Faculty Here May 4

Bruin Will Be Awarded At Gay Nineties Review

On the evening of May 4, at 8:00 p. m., a Gay Nineties Review will be given in the auditorium of Wood-Mar Hall. Mrs. Dorothy Morse will be in charge of the evening's program.

The evening's entertainment will include songs by the four college quartets and the trio, musical readings, skits by each of the four classes, and the faculty, group singing, and a one-act play by the dramatics department.

The admission, including the federal tax, will be 45 cents for adults and 30 cents for students. Tickets will be sold at the door. There will be no reserved seats.

As part of the program, Bruin Junior III will be awarded to the class which puts on the best skit.

The Gay Nineties Review is being given in place of the previously scheduled student body play, "The Family Upstairs."

Seniors to Present Gift at Chapel

This morning's chapel hour will be in charge of the Seniors who have planned to present their gift to the school at this time. The gift is a pulpit for the stage. A dedicatory program will be given with Mona Cowley as chairman.

It is traditional for the Seniors to have one chapel program in the spring, and also to present a gift to the school.

Gulley Is Chairman For Clothing Drive

President Emmett Gulley, Newberg chairman of the United National Clothing Collection drive, invited P. C. students and faculty to help our nation reach its goal of one hundred and fifty million tons of clothing for the war victims of Europe. He presented this appeal during the chapel hour, Thursday, April 19.

Newberg churches, schools, and other organizations are cooperating to help make this drive a success.

All Newberg schools have been made depots for collection of the clothing.

President Gulley feels that if we could witness the terrible need in Europe, we might be willing to share even the clothes we need with the war victims.

Monday evening, April 30, a program will be given at the local high school with the cooperation of all Newberg schools. Pacific college will furnish the vocal music, and the high school will furnish the instrumental music.

The admission to this program will be the charge of one article of clothing of each person.

This is architect, Donald M. Edmundson's, proposed floor plan for the new gymnasium, to be constructed at Pacific College in the near future.

Officials Await Priority to Build

The new gymnasium at Pacific college will be a step nearer a reality this week as the tearing down of the old structure is begun. Pres. Gulley stated that the wrecking will begin the last of this week.

This work has been held up for a few days as college authorities await the arrival of government priority to build. The government inspector who was on the campus has said that he would recommend the priority, and it will probably arrive within the next two or three days.

Drive for Funds Continues

"In the meantime," said Pres. Gulley last Friday, "we are raising the $2,500 needed before the building may be begun." Townspeople and students are being solicited and given an opportunity to help with the fund for the gymnasium.

The architect's drawings are complete for the new structure, and materials and plans for construction are being considered. The new building will be erected on a site north of Canyon Hall, the girls' dormitory, at the corner of River St. and North St., according to present plans.

The new plant will be constructed largely from non-priority and salvaged materials, using student and volunteer labor to a great extent. The course in Reconstruction which the summer students will take will include work in building the gymnasium.

Floor Is Maximum Size

The new building will have a large floor, nearly twice the size of the court the present inadequate structure provides. Two practice games may be played concurrently on the new floor.

In addition, the new plant will have game rooms, practice courts, dressing rooms, and supplementary seating space, according to the estimates of architect Donald Edmundson. About 500 people can be seated for games in the regular bleachers. Additional seating will bring the capacity up to nearly 1,000.

Gym to Serve Community

College officials say that they hope the gym may be a benefit to Newberg and help toward the growth and development of the college. The building should serve the community not only for sports events and recreation programs, but also for other large gatherings.

The possibility of having a new gymnasium has been in the minds of those concerned in the college for some time. A year ago an appeal was made to students to contribute toward the gym fund. Since then the fund has grown through many contributions from the people of Newberg and vicinity and others over Oregon, until now only a little is lacking to make the gymnasium a reality. The plant is being built as a memorial to the late Dr. Thomas W. Hester, well-known physician in Newberg for many years.

Bruin Jr. Declared Dead

Bring out the black crepe and white lilies and don your black dresses and suits, for Bruin Junior III is dead.

On the evening of May 4, however, by decree of the Student Council he will be awarded to the class who presents the best skit for the Gay Nineties Review.

Bruin's death occurred late Friday afternoon as a result of the violation of various rules, and the failure of the Sophomore class to get him off the campus.

At the Student Council meeting it was decided that Bruin will no longer be brought into any building but the gymnasium except when he has been declared dead.

Tennis Court Work Begun Last Week

Work was begun last week on the new tennis courts being built on the campus by the Men's Athletic association, of which Orrin Ogier is president.

"The cement and gravel is ordered and the mixer is contracted so that as soon as we can get the ground ready, we will be able to pour the cement," says former M. A. A. president, Quincy Fodge. The cement is expected to be laid with the volunteer help provided by the students and faculty.

The initial work of preparing the ground for the cement was done last week. The courts are being built on a site west of Canyon Hall, the girls' dormitory, between Canyon Hall and Wood-Mar Hall.

So far, only enough money has been received and donated to pay for the construction of one court. Says Orrin Ogier, M. A. A. president, "Any donations toward the building of another court will be greatly appreciated."

The courts will be finished as soon as possible.

Summer School Begins June 11-28 Available Courses Announced

Plans for Pacific college's summer session have been completed, according to announcement made last week by the faculty committee in charge.

The summer session is arranged to permit ministerial students and others to carry a speeded up college program.

The 1945 session will begin immediately following Oregon Yearly Meeting. The first three weeks the students will study Boys' Leadership course to consist of one week of instruction and two weeks of actual work in the Boys' Camp at Twin Rocks, sponsored by Oregon Yearly Meeting. Prof Harmon will be the instructor for this course.

Following Boys' Camp there will be six weeks of study reconstruction, nature, and public speech. The reconstruction course will include carpentry, work in shop, and work on the new gymnasium.

Commencement Changed to June 4

The date of commencement exercises has been changed from Tuesday, June 5, as originally scheduled, to Monday, June 4, according to announcement by Pres. Gulley.

The change was made to accommodate the Yearly Meeting which wants to begin sessions a day earlier than usual.

The class night program which is usually given on Monday evening preceding commencement has been changed to Thursday evening, May 31. The annual commencement musical will be held as usual on Friday evening, June 1. The Alumni banquet will be held on Monday night, June 4.

President Gulley and Prof. Skene will be instructors.

The nature study course will be taught by Miss Mary Sutton, and the speech by Prof. Hoskins.

The faculty committee for summer school includes Profs. Carey, Sutton, and Hoskins.

Hoskins and Quartet Travel to Coast Schools

Early Thursday morning, April 26, Prof. Lewis Hoskins, and the Heralds male quartet will leave for a short tour of high schools on the coast. They will appear at the Philomath high school at 9:00 o'clock, Eddyville high school at 10:30, Newport at 12:45, Taft at 2:30, and possibly the Nelscott Community church that evening.

Friday morning at 10:30, the quartet and Mr. Hoskins will be at the Tillamook high school. Later in the day they plan to visit Garibaldi and Wheeler.

Friday evening the group will appear at the Tillamook Friends Church where David and Florence Thomas are the pastors.

L'Ami Work Progresses; Initial Stages Past

L'Ami editors announce this week that work on the 1945 year-book is progressing steadily and the initial stages are past.

The photography has been finished and the dummies made up. The book is on its way to the printers.

"We regret to say that your 1945 L'Ami will doubtless be late in reaching you," stated Assistant Editor Mildred Haworth. "The tardiness is the result of a late start caused by an over abundance of other duties pressing on those in charge."

IN MEMORIAM

Students and faculty alike felt that they had lost a true friend when they heard of the death of Mrs. Jessie Cole. All who knew her remembered her untiring kindness and helpful interest, her humor and friendship, her goodness, and her Christianity. Her death left a gap that can never be filled.

Few people can be so understanding and unprejudiced and still have such personal integrity. Mrs. Cole died too young, for we still wanted and needed her. Her life has touched so many others that her real monument is the lasting memory and her example being followed.

We are inarticulate in trying to say how she has affected the lives of those who knew her. She was a true mother to us all.

WHAT ABOUT CONSCRIPTION?

Of great importance to all of us is this problem of Peacetime Military Conscription. It is important not only from the standpoint of our individual beliefs concerning war, but from the standpoint of American citizens who do not wish to see their country pass through the changes wrought by such measures adopted in other countries.

Yet, how many of us know anything about this problem, have discussed it with our friends and fellow students, or have taken action and written to our Congressmen about it? Not many, if any, should the truth be known.

But this is a matter not to be lightly treated. Immediate passage of measures demanding compulsory military training in peacetime is being urged throughout the country.

But, you ask, what can I do about it? Simply this: Obtain all possible information concerning peacetime conscription, know it well, and then get together your friends, and members of your various organizations, and talk this over thoroughly, decide upon some means of action, and carry it out.

In a letter recently received from SPAN, a publication of the Y. M. and YWCA, there is offered a new pamphlet entitled, "The Pros and Cons of Peacetime Conscription," which is issued by the National Peace Conference. The address is: 8 West 40th Street, New York, 18, New York. This pamphlet may be secured for the sum of five cents. Another source of information suggested is an article in the Harpers Magazine for March, 1945, entitled, "Conscription for Peacetime," by Hanson W. Baldwin.

Under the head of suggested action is the advice that when writing to our Senators and Representatives from our district, we should express specific reasons for our convictions. Form letters, post cards and petitions have little value.

Thus, a few extra minutes during the day on the part of each and all of us might well mean tipping the balances in favor of the defeat of such peacetime military conscription measures as are now before the governing bodies of our nation.

MOB PSYCHOLOGY

School spirit is a great thing. We've eulogized it frequently in the editorial column, but as someone once said—there is a time and a place for everything. And the Adm. building on Friday, or any other day, is definitely neither the place nor the time for scrapping over Bruin Jr.

Destroying valuable property, violating set rules and regulations, and arousing ill will between members of the various classes is definitely not in the category of school spirit. Such things only serve to eliminate the spirit, substituting instead, hard feelings and disunity.

If we have school spirit, must it be a logic tight compartment of unthinking, uncontrolled emotionalism separated from our ethical and Christian attitudes and sportsmanship?

True, there should be some emotionalism in school spirit, but too much of it carried too far can be disastrous.

Another vital part of school spirit is a sense of sportsmanship, and for a Christian college, this, and the matter of our Christian ethics is doubly important. How we conduct ourselves in respect to these things impresses itself on the minds of others. They will judge the college from such observances, not entirely perhaps, but sufficiently to be damaging or commendable.

How we answer this question of school spirit and sportsmanship will determine whether Bruin Jr. will continue to be a tradition carried down through the years, or a memory to gather dust with the past.

THE EARLY BIRD

"It's the early bird that catches the worm." Familiar, time-worn phrase that it is—there is still a great deal of truth in it.

All of us know from experience that had we been early birds in studying for six weeks tests, and in preparing our special reports, and term papers, we would save ourselves needless mid-nightly study sessions and the unsavoriness of a diet of fingernails.

But being the early bird applies to things other than studies alone. Promptness in paying bills, personal or of organizations, keeping appointments and promises, and sundry other items are just as important, and to those outside the college whom we contact, more so.

In college we are not only preparing for life, we are living it. True, we are building for the future, but all structures must have foundations, and what we do today will be the foundation of the building of our life of tomorrow.

If the "early bird" principle is applied to all these above mentioned items, there need be no last minute rush and confusion to get things done; no unraveled threads of unfinished tasks to annoy and impair efficiency in the future.

Each of us is guilty of slipping up now and then. No one is perfect, or expects to be. But conscientious endeavor to do our best is always noticed and appreciated, and eventually yields rewards.

The early bird catches the worm—may be not every morning, but he keeps trying.

SPRING FEVER

Days of bright sunshine and clear skies are before us, and there is so much to do. There is tennis, hikes, and even fishing trips, in the Canyon, or times of just lying in the sun, doing nothing but soaking up some good old vitamin D.

But, there are studies, term papers, exams and commencement week, still before us. Perhaps the quotation, "Into each life some rain must fall," may well apply to such activities, and yet, there is much enjoyment even in these.

Soon, the L'Ami will be out, vacation will have begun, and we won't have to worry about classes until September rolls around. But in the meantime, life must merrily run its course.

So—happy spring fever to you!

Letter to Crescent Readers

Dear Readers:

Do you have any old dresses, coats, suits, shirts, blouses, shoes, or other usable but outgrown, or old clothes that are lying around, gathering dust and providing homes for families of moths? You do? Then why not donate them to the United National Clothing Collection drive being sponsored this week?

President Guiley has suggested that there be a special clothing drive conducted on the campus with the Crescent as sponsors. We think it's a good idea, but without the help of each and every one, the drive will not be a success. So—oo—we are urging you to rummage through your closets and trunks and bureau drawers, and contribute. We suggest you see some friends or relatives, and get clothing from them. And—the least you can do is spread some timely propaganda.

There are, however, a few things that are not suitable. Dress suits, hats, and evening gowns are not wanted. But thin summer dresses or cotton, rayon, and other materials with the exception of sheers, and silk, are quite acceptable.

Old sweaters, pajamas, underwear, and even gloves, may be included in your collection.

For each of us this affords an opportunity to carry out Christ's commandment to "love thy neighbor as thyself," and to, "do unto others as ye would have them do unto you," and to be a Good Samaritan to needy war victims.

The drive begins today. The need is urgent!

Sincerely,
Crescent Editors

Dorm Mouse Reports

Ah . . . this spring weath and me without Gooseabelle! Everybody else has a Gooseabelle but me! Alas, poor Gooseabelle was eaten by the horrid cat, and there wasn't a thing I could do about it. I probably would have been eaten too.

Clementine had a sister to take her place when she fell in the foaming brine, but dear Gooseabelle was blessed with only brothers. I'll never figure out this mystery of life.

. . . And speaking of mysteries, I hear that Ross and Donna have found the "Ah, sweet mystery of life," At least that's what the radio said last Sunday night.

You know, I rather like the night time, because that's the only time I can rest. (Did I say rest? Well, I meant, attempt to) and dream.

While we're on the subject of sleeping, I'll let you in on a little secret. Nancy May Lewis talks in her sleep. Her favorite subject . . . well you guess!

We have been having wonderful weather in case you haven't noticed. Just the kind of weather that encourages long walks in the Canyon. If you don't believe it, ask Colleen Bybee and Dean Oglevie.

Another couple seen taking quit a few strolls of late is Glen and Polly. Someone said that Polly's a sweet little gal, (we're not denying it) and someone, it is rumored, took this literally and took a hunk out of her. As yet we haven't found out how this happened, or what flavor she is.

Of late in Spanish class, Mr. Knight has a hard time keeping names straight. Maybe it's because he's still sleepy, but anyway, he occasionally addresses Vera as Miss Johnson instead of Miss Jones, as he should. Now that could be . . . oh, but that's absurd.

Well, I guess that's about all for now, except an item about Mr. Clark. It seems he is having an awful time trying to keep his A Capella choir from looking like goldfish. For a demonstration, see Mr. Clark.

Then Do Something!

Could any of these be you? We are not talking about personalities but we are talking about types and perhaps one of the types could be you.

The mouse in student body meeting? The one who has never a word to say about the big issue but stays glued to your seat? No one would mind if you would not say "Why didn't they?" and otherwise complain before you reach the first step on the stairs. This is a democracy and democracy is with the consent of the governed. If you dissent—speak up!

The rough rider card sharp? It isn't a matter of life or honor depending on the outcome of a Rook game but from the gleam in your eye we don't know. You intimidate the other side, and win by a battle of wits. After all it's only shuffling 57 pieces of cardboard. If we were to judge some people's character from their methods of playing Rook, we would think that they had never heard of ethics.

The unconscious immovable matter at team games? Now this is the time to show enthusiasm and interest. Of course you are interested in the honor of the school so why not show it? You can really be the determiner of whether the game is clean sport; whether there is a winning score for our side. And all by allowing a little expired breath to go past your vocal cords.

Public enemy number one at breakfast? Honest, the waitress can't help it if you have a mourning cow hangover. She didn't ring the curfew! Then why snap at her and your companions? Gosh, you are a grouch.

you are hungry and of course you are a growing boy—around the waist line! That is no reason why you should assume that the other seven people are on a bread and water diet! Share equally first. Perhaps there is not any more of this but there is three gallons of that. Your motto seems to be "Do unto others before they have big hog of yourself? Of course a chance to do unto you." Slow down and give them a chance to give you a chance.

The screwdriver even when your walking—who always managers to be where someone else wants to be, and all at just the wrong moment? Brush up on your dodging technique, or stay out of the traffic during the rush hours. Yes, that means the kitchen.

Or are you—heaven forbid—that darling of your mother's life who has so little grey spaghetti under the thatch that you confuse repulsiveness with being cute? A word to the wise, you know!!!—We could say more, but that would be getting personal.

Newlyweds Chivareed By College Friends

Accompanied by noisy blowing of car horns, nearly thirty of the college students, friends of Lester and Rosie Clark, paid a surprise visit to the newlyweds at the Clark home in Dayton, the evening of Wednesday, April 11.

When the couple had recovered from their surprise, the visitors were treated with chocolates and shown snapshots of the wedding.

Feature event of the evening was the spectacle of Lester wheeling his bride down the streets of Dayton in a wheelbarrow.

When the group returned to the Clark home, they were served coffee and doughnuts.

"Golgatha" Shown Apr. 13

The feature of the Bruin Junior Canteen for Friday evening, April 13, was the showing of the movie, "Golgatha." A large number of students, their guests, and faculty members were present.

Two March of Time pictures, "Airways of the Future," and "Portugal," were also shown.

Africa, Subject of Monday Chapel

During chapel Monday, April 16, Mrs. Dorothy Morse told something of the African missionary work of her brother, Ralph Choate.

The hope was expressed that students might get to hear him, since he is expected to arrive in the states in the near future.

Mrs. Morse spoke of the eagerness of the native Africans to learn. She stated that often in two years they learned to read and write material equal to that of fifth grade work in our own country. It was also mentioned that the missionary needs some knowledge of four different languages.

Mrs. Morse read a letter from Mr. Choate, describing the beauty of Africa, and giving an account of a trip taken by Mr. Choate and another of the missionaries.

S.S.U. Election; Cabinet Installed

Don Johnson, a Sophomore from Hillsboro, was elected S. C. U. president April 11 to serve during 1945-46. The other officers in his cabinet are as follows:

Vice-president, Betty Ann Craven; secretary, Pauline Ireland; treasurer, Bernard Landreth; Y. M. chairman, Glen Koch; Y. W. chairman, Patricia Perisho; deputation, Charlotte Macy; social, Colleen Bybee; membership and publicity, Dean Oglevie; program, Eileen Tamplin; faculty advisor, Edward Harmon.

The installation will be held April 18 during the chapel hour. Vera Jones is in charge of this candlelight service.

S. C. U. Installation

The regular weekly Student Christian Union meeting April 18 opened with song. Vera Jones, the Y. W. C. A. chairman, read from I Corinthians 16:9 these words:

"For a great and effectual door is open to me, and there are many adversaries." She presented to the entire group the challenge given in this verse. Helen Randall sang, "Speak My Lord".

During the service the outgoing cabinet was seated on the platform. Each committee chairman lighted his candle while the new officer was walking onto the stage. After a few words of welcome the candle was presented to the incoming cabinet member and the former chairman left the platform. Mr. Moore dismissed the meeting with prayer, asking for continued guidance in all S. C. U. activities.

Formal Party to Be Given at Friends Church

This coming Friday evening, April 27, at 8:30 in the Newberg Friends Church, a formal party will be given in connection with the annual high school Junior-Senior banquet and prom for the benefit of students of high school age and older.

The Friends Church, and churches of the town and community are combining to provide joint committees that will serve to provide decorations, program, and refreshments.

Trefian Hears Report

The Trefian library society was called to order last week by President Joyce Perisho. After the regular business meeting, a very interesting report, "How to approach the magazine stand," was given by Evangelyn Shattuck.

The program for the coming meeting will be the presentation of familiar American music by various members of the club, and the story behind these songs will be given by Betty Ann Craven.

Critical Questions, Topic of I. R. C.

At recent International Relations club meeting, the following topics were given round table discussions: "Who Is Really Winning the Pacific War?" and "How Will the Nation and the World Be Affected by the Death of Roosevelt?"

The first question was discussed April 10 with an article from a recent Readers' Digest being the starting point. The article stated that our army had not wiped out the spots of Japanese colonization on the Pacific islands. These focal points would be the beginning of another infection of war. Members asked several critical questions including: Are these groups closely connected with Tokyo? Would we really make peace by subjecting or destroying them?

At the April 17 meeting, the group first read different Oregonian articles and then polled their views. The group felt that the United States had lost its leader at a very trying time. Probably we would lose most in the diplomatic sphere by the death of our chief diplomat and acquaintance of the Big Two.

After discussing the career of Truman, it was felt that the war effort would go on as usual with Truman relying heavily on Congress, General Marshall, and the bureaucrats. Each one of these advisors would be responsible for his share and would be more independent than under the personal government of Roosevelt.

Truman's greatest handicap as far as could be seen was that he did not know the great number of people personally as Roosevelt did. However, he did seem to be taking hold with a firm and determined grasp in the national government. We must not judge him before the results are shown.

Junior Class Fetes Seniors at Annual Formal Banquet

The traditional Junior-Senior banquet was held in the dining room of Canyon Hall last Friday evening, April 20. A group of forty Juniors and Seniors and faculty members enjoyed the formal dinner.

Tables were arranged in the dining room with four seated at a table, each decorated with tiny bouquets of sweet peas, daisies, and other seasonal flowers.

Toastmaster Harold Fowier announced the program, which followed the general theme of "Builders," as follows: A piano solo by Paul Thornburg; toast, "The Brace," by Wesley Murphy, Junior class president; toast, "Foundations," by Pres. Gully; violin solo by Barbara Terrill; toast, "The Ladder," by Burton Frost, president of the Senior class; toast, "Blue Prints," by Prof. Knight; reading by Charlotte Macy; Scripture by Evangelyn Shattuck; and a vocal solo by Joyce Perisho.

The banquet theme was further carried out in the menus, which were printed on miniature blue prints. The menu consisted of apple juice, cocktail, chicken pie, carrots and peas, lettuce and crab salad, biscuits, jelly, nut fondant, and coffee.

The favors were five inch rulers made of balsam wood.

Enthusiasm for Tennis Is Revived

Orrin Ogier, Tennis Manager
Prospects for a revival of tennis enthusiasm at P. C. looks good this year as a few weeks of good weather have allowed fans to dust their racquets and put them to use.

Interest in tennis has been a bit lax in the past few years, with only a couple of tournaments and the enthusiasm of a few faithful fans keeping the game alive at Pacific. Inter-collegiate tournaments have doubtless been hampered to some extent by the war.

A number of games with other nearby colleges have been scheduled for this year. Several enthusiasts are now getting in shape and organizing a team. A tentative line-up which is subject to change as others challenge and contest is as follows: Men's singles, Ogier, Landreth and Fodge. Men's doubles, Ogier and Landreth. Women's singles, Miller, Cole and Hadlock. Women's doubles, Miller and Hadlock.

In connection with these games with other colleges, we will have an elimination tournament to determine the school champion, both for men and women. There will also be class competition. These tournaments will be played the middle of May.

The selection of the tentative teams should not prevent anyone else from turning out to practice. We urge anyone who has the slightest interest to get a racket and try his hand at the game.

The receipt of a shipment of Spaulding tennis balls and the initial work begun by M. A. A. on new tennis courts, has stepped up enthusiasm.

Keep your eye on these teamsters. We may have a good team!

Every cloud has its silver lining but it is difficult to get it to the mint.—From Archy and Mehit-able.

Coach Burton Frost entertained the basketball boys at a dinner in his home Wednesday evening, April 11. The dinner was given to celebrate the closing of the basketball season.

P.C. Baseball Team Meets N.H.S. Today

This afternoon the P. C. baseball club will play a practice game with the Newberg high school on the high school diamond. This will be the first game of the season.

Newberg is said to have a little better than average team.

Substitutions will be: Thornburg, St. George, Mills, and Greer. All the above fellows have been turning out for a good work out under the able direction of Coach Frost.

Knight, Quartet Tours South Idaho

The Herald's male quartet, sponsored by Prof. and Mrs. Roy E. Knight, made a concert tour of schools and churches in the Boise valley in Idaho, April 12-16. The time was intensively scheduled, allowing the group to appear in eight churches and four schools in the interest of Pacific college.

Churches visited were: Boise Friends, Homedale Friends, Nampa Friends, Melba Friends, Nampa Christian, Nampa United Presbyterian, Nampa Brethren, and Greenleaf Friends.

The group reports a most cordial reception wherever they sang. Their audience totaled more than four thousand people.

Personnel of the quartet included: Herschel Thornburg, Roy Clark, Paul Thornburg, and Everett Craven. They presented a varied program including songs, brass quartets, piano solos and duos, readings, and vibra-harp music.

The itinerary and publicity for the trip were handled by Prof. Knight, director of deputation work for the college.

News Received of Death of Mrs. Cole

Pacific college was shocked last week to hear of the accidental death of Mrs. Jessie N. Cole, former matron of Kanyon Hall, in Los Angeles on April 11. She and a friend, Mrs. Corson, were struck by a runaway truck near Mrs. Corson's home. The truck's steering apparatus had gone out of control after the truck hit a dip on a down grade and plunged across the sidewalk into a wall of an apartment house. The two women were unidentified until morning.

Mrs. Cole had been the dormitory matron of Kanyon Hall for two years and a half, resigning a year ago last January because of poor health. Since then she had resided in Whittier, Calif.

Faculty Members Play Volleyball at Pacific U.

Several members of Pacific college faculty enjoyed an evening of games and entertainment with faculty members of Pacific university on their campus last Monday evening.

Pres. Gulley, Donald Dodd, Burton Frost, and Professors Skene, Harmon, and Lewis composed a volleyball team which was defeated by the Pacific university team.

Following the volleyball game, the faculty men were invited to the home of one of the P. U. faculty where lunch was served. During the lunch Pres. Gulley played Dr. Bricker a game of chess and won honors for Pacific college by winning.

The Pacific university faculty will visit this campus tomorrow night for a return engagement.

A Capella Group Sings in Portland

The A Capella choir made its second appearance in Portland last Thursday night, April 19, giving a concert in the First Friends Church. The concert was sponsored by the Portland branch of the College Ladies' Auxiliary for the purpose of raising money for new music equipment to be used by the college.

The choir presented a varied program of choral selections interspersed with quartet, trio, and octet numbers.

Following the concert, light refreshments were served in the church basement, and an extemporaneous program of humorous songs and readings were presented.

Before returning to Newberg, the choir sang at the Service Men's Center in downtown Portland to a very appreciative group of soldiers gathered there.

The last choir trip of the season will be taken Sunday, April 29, to Salem where concerts will be given in the Highland Avenue Friends, South Salem Friends, and West Salem Brethren Churches in the morning, afternoon, and evening respectively.

Home appearances will be made at the musical program for the clothing drive, April 30, the high school baccalaureate, May 31, and the college baccalaureate service, June 3.

Crescent Staff Enjoys Chili Feed and Confab

Thursday evening, April 12, the Crescent staff members and reporters gathered at the home of the editor, Imogene Degner, for an evening of informal discussion of newspaper writing, and a chili feed.

Prof. Lewis Hoskins gave a brief talk on the various types of newspaper writing, and answered questions put forth by the group. Old Crescents were studied briefly for good and bad points, and the do's and don'ts of writing were thoroughly discussed.

Annual Gold P Initiation Begins

Initiation of the Gold P club neophytes began today, Monday at 8:00 a. m. This process of induction will continue until Friday, April 27.

Neophytes are: Dale Parrish, Robert Hurford, Glen Koch, Stanley Williams, and Douglas Olson. All these neophytes have earned their letters in basketball. Those who will earn their letters in baseball will be initiated next year.

One of the initiation committee members states that students should not be alarmed at apparitions wandering about. It will only be a Gold P neophyte.

In addition to new rules, the old traditions will be strictly enforced.

Prof. Harmon Speaks To Students in Chapel

Professor Edward Harmon addressed the students and the faculty at chapel, Monday, April 9, upon the subject of retaining a real Christian experience. Recognizing the importance of the initial conversion to Christianity, Mr. Harmon's special concern was that once we are converted, that we remain loyal.

It was brought out that the cultivation of Holy habits is important to one's standing grace. Two of these habits stressed as of paramount importance were regular devotions and Bible reading.

Mr. Harmon further stressed that it was advisable in the forming of habits, although these habits are not necessary to a spirit of devotion, that a particular time and place be set aside especially for our meditation and prayer.

Two Student Speakers Conduct April 10 S.C.U.

To open the Student Christian Union meeting of April 10, Herschel Thornburg played an interlude of several hymns on the marimba, and Charlotte Macy led the song service. The season of prayer was opened by Paul Thornburg, president of the S. C. U.

Leta Hockett, one of the two student speakers, spoke of the significance of Christ's death. She pointed out that in reality each of us is a Barabbas because through the Divine death we are pardoned. As a special number, Herschel Thornburg played a medley of hymns on the marimba. The theme of the hymns centered about the Cross.

"Sanctification comes only by faith in Christ." Gordon St. George elaborated on this quotation for his brief message.

When opportunity was given for testimonies, Dr. Carey told of the ultimate goal of our sanctification. We are not cleansed to be ego-centric; we are saved to serve.

Glen Kock closed the service with prayer.
